A Charitable Event to Raise Awareness for Pediatric Stroke and Fund Research and Grants

The Laney Jaymes Foundation* was formed in memory of Laney Jaymes Fitzsimons who suffered from a rare vascular disease that caused strokes

Pediatric strokes affect children and often go undiagnosed because of a lack of awareness

The failure to properly diagnose strokes can forever alter a child's life

Proceeds benefit The Laney Jaymes Foundation Research Project in Pediatric Vasculopathy at Johns Hopkins University, equipment grants for families in need, and organizations promoting pediatric stroke awareness

Last year's event included over 100 participants, primarily from DC, Maryland, and Northern Virginia, and more are expected this year

*All volunteer organization

The Laney Jaymes Foundation is a 501(c)(3) Charitable Organization
